

The Butterflies Dance

The challenges you now face will rise to the hands of God through my words that I have received as a gift. It is my hope and desire that through my poetry you will find strength, love and forgiveness, powers we all possess. Release the anger and resentment that so many carry with them like a silent lantern. With my spiritual insight and knowledge, absorb my words and walk closer to God so you can experience what I have, in your life, to make things better for yourself and for those around you.
