

Jesus and I

Jesus and I is organized into very short lessons that lend themselves to direct, oral teaching and discussion. It is designed to be used BY the teacher WITH the student. The book begins with several pages of prayers that we should know by heart. The lesson titles are phrases from these prayers, and the lesson content explains that particular phrase. Each lesson begins with a narrative written in simple, short sentences. This is followed by the How Many Can You Answer? section of questions for the youngest students. Next are the Can You Also Answer These? questions for older students, which come from the First Communion Catechism in use when the book was originally written. The book ends with sections on When I Go to Confession and When I Go to Holy Communion followed by a summary of all of the First Communion Catechism questions.
