

For Jess, spending the winter in Hawaii while her husband worked on a construction project was a dream come true. When a ghost with a vengeance turns the dream into a nightmare and crew members start dying, Jess and her new friend, Trudy, must find out why the beach seems to want to kill everyone. Will meeting with locals and environmentalists help shed light on the puzzle? If so, then why are Jess and Trudy's lives also suddenly threatened? And just how can two women from the mainland appeal to Pele, the Volcano Goddess herself, and somehow stop their husbands from demolishing the goddess favorite beach?
